THE OLD FAMILY CLOCK.

[Written for THE "BREATHITT NEWS"]

Thirty-six years ago, before I was born, Though father owned plenty of stock, Had timber, land and money to spare, He never had purchased a clock.

But thirteen days before my birth-day, Dressed up in his quaint-looking frock, They tell me he rode old Darby to town

And purchased the old family clock. He made it a shelf which he screwed to the wall,

So solid it never could rock. Then he set it thereon and started the tick

Of that beautiful old family clock. On that same little shelf, by night and by day

That familiar old tick-e-tick-tock Has soothed many cares of life away.

As it came from the old family clock. My father has risen for many a year

To feed and tend to his stock And mother to cook her muffins and cakes

By the strike of the old family clock. And many a time e're the dawn of the day,

Before the crow of the cock, That musical strain would wake us all up

As it came from the old family clock. When babies, we often were lulled to sleep,

As mother our cradle would rock, When sick the hours seemed hastened away

By the tick of the old family clock. It has ticked off many a month and a year,

Has had many a knock, Yet scarcely you'll find more accurate time

Than's kept by the old family clock. J. H. HIERONYMOUS, Primrose, Ky.

Hiram Lawson, of Frozen, was in town Monday.

Elhanan E. Combs, of Hazard, was here on business during the week.

W. C. Pryor, manager of the Frozen Creek Lumber Co., was here Monday.

The Kentucky River Oil and Gas Company, operating in Wolfe county last week brought in a paying well on the Campbell farm, both oil and gas being found.

The offices of the Kentucky Block Cannel Coal Company have been moved from Lexington to Cincinnati. This is the company that operates the mines at Cannel City and also near Beattyville.

B. P. Bowling, editor of the Hazard Enterprise, was a caller at THE NEWS office Tuesday. He was on his way home from a business trip to Lexington and other points below. He has just added a job department to his newspaper plant.

From Bennett to Lizzie. DANVILLE, KY., January 18, 1905.

My DEAR SISTER: I will write to you. Are you well? I want you to go to school and be a smart lady. How often do you think about brother? You must learn fast and don't waste time in play. I wish you could come to see me. So be a sweet girl. With many kisses of love.

Your brother, BENNETT.

The above is the last letter written by Bennett Park to his half sister, Lizzie Sewell, who died last Sunday morning. It is published by request of his mother, Mrs. Laura Sewell.

Appointed Special Judge.

Try This Remedy.

In a normal, healthy individual one-thirteenth of the weight is blood and one-tenth of the blood is salt. This fact alone will show why the modern school of medicine has differentiated from quackery and superstition in employing salt as a preventative and a remedy. Physicians can accomplish wonderful things with the aid of salt. In cases of hemorrhage or excessive loss of blood salt is injected to sustain the vitality. If the hemorrhage is from the lungs salt is fed directly to the patient and will often arrest the hemorrhage.

Dentists use salt and water to stop the flow of blood following the extraction of teeth, thus preserving the strength of the patient. They also recommend it for hardening the gums.

For catarrh there is no better remedy than a teaspoonful of salt dissolved in a pint of tepid water, used with a nasal douche. The nostrils and throat should be thoroughly flushed daily, and many a patient for this advice pays a physician his regular fee. Cold water should never be used.

Inflammation of the eyes succumbs to a treatment of salt water, one-quarter of a teaspoonful to a glass of hot water.

Women who readily take cold from exposure in wet weather should try this remedy. Remove the shoes and stockings and without drying the feet vigorously with dry salt until the moisture disappears. It is almost a certain preventative of a cold. In hot weather bathe the feet in a solution of salt and warm water.

For corns and bunions there is no better remedy than a half lemon (nicked around the outer edge so that it will readily expand to cover the desired surface) packed solid with salt and bound securely over the affected parts for three nights. Salt water with a dash of vinegar will cure a sore throat. Use as a gargle two or three times a day.

A cup of cold water with a teaspoonful of salt taken upon rising in the morning will act as an excellent physic. An acute attack of indigestion may be removed almost immediately by eating a handful of salt.

These are only a few of the numerous uses to which physicians put salt. Indirectly it is one of the greatest beautifiers women have at their command, for anything that aids digestion will make a woman more fair to look upon.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

How to Make a Cradle for Baby From a Clothes Basket.

A most "cunning" contrivance for a baby cradle is nothing more expensive than the ordinary clothes basket transformed with a very little expenditure and taste into a lovely and comfortable bed. The basket must be well wadded and lined and decorated with as much muslin and lace as fancy dictates. A large down pillow forms the mattress and a smaller one the head pillow.

You can have no idea how useful this novel bed will be found, says Woman's Life. It can easily be removed to or from the fire, it can be put completely out of the way by being lifted on the bed, it can be carried up and down stairs without disturbing baby's sleep, and when its occupant gets a little older and wants to sit up he or she is quite safe from drafts and dangers of falling, and when it has fulfilled its mission as a cradle for six months of its occupant's life it can be stripped of its adornments and sent to the kitchen.

Treatment For Frostbite.

A point to bear in mind at this season is that in case of freezing or frostbite heat must never be applied at first. Aim at gradual restoration. Use friction, with snow or ice or cold water, and get up all the friction possible. After awhile let heat be applied in the most gentle manner possible. If in the case of freezing animation does not return, try artificial respiration, as in the case of drowning. If sores follow frostbite, treat with some reliable ointment. If there is much inflammation, poultice liberally.

Smelling Salts.

Take one gill of liquid ammonia, a quarter of a dram each of attar of rosemary and English lavender, eight drops each of bergamot and cloves. Put into a stoppered bottle and shake vigorously until well mixed. Fill the smelling bottle with asbestos or sponge cuttings and pour the mixture over them, taking care not to put in more than the sponge will retain, else the ammonia will run out and stain fabrics when the bottle is inverted.

Cure For Chills.

Take a lump of unsalted lime about the size of the fist, put it in a basin and sprinkle a little water on it, all it will absorb, and let it dissolve. Then put enough hot water on it to cover the feet well and let them soak. If the water gets too hot, cool it, but use it as hot as possible. Use it at night. You would better not go out in the cold immediately after using it.

Ironing Laces.

Iron embroideries on the wrong side over a thin, smooth cloth over flannel. Never touch lace directly with an iron on either side. Heavy laces and tatting should not be ironed, but pinned out on a board over a cloth. If they seem stiff when taken off, rub them gently with the fingers.

To Clean White Feathers.

Draw the feathers gently through a warm soap lather several times, then pass them through tepid and finally through cold water to rinse them. Then hold them a short distance from the fire and curl the separate parts of the feather as it dries.

Brass Polish.

Old and much tarnished brass is best treated perhaps by pouring very strong ammonia over it and then giving it a good scrubbing with a brush. After about five minutes the metal should be as bright and shining as when new.

To Make Starch.

In making starch, boil it at least one hour, then add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to a half gallon of starch. Clothes done up in this starch will have a peculiar soft stiffness and will not "muss" as soon as you put them on.

To Stop Mouse Holes.

To stop mouse holes take a piece of common hard soap, stop the hole with it, and you may rest assured you will have no further trouble from that quarter. It is equally effective as regards rats, roaches and ants.

For the Skin.

Half a teaspoonful of common vinegar put in a cold bath is excellent for bracing one up and will keep the skin in an active, healthy state. This is also nice for a footbath.

To Dry Wash Curtains.

Washing window curtains in winter can be easily accomplished by rubbing them in dry cornmeal and then allowing them to hang a little while in a brisk wind.

Care of Lamp Wicks.

Starch and iron wide lamp wicks and wicks for oil stoves. They will not then cause trouble in fitting them into the burners.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Table Games That Can Be Produced in a Moment.

Here are some "charades" that can be produced in a moment without requiring scenery or other preparation. They may be called "table charades," because most of them need only the ordinary things to be found in any dining room.

Take a bit of ribbon in a bow to a table knife. The answer is, "A gay blade." The dinner bell with the same bit of ribbon attached to it represents the "Belle of the room." Lay a coin on the table and a fork or on top of it. The group signifies "Forking over the cash." The cayenne pepper castor placed along a side of a saltcellar represents "A hot seller" (cellar). The vinegar cruet by the side of a bunch of grapes, of course, means "Sour grapes." Spoons placed on each side of a pair of anything, such as napkin rings, knives or forks, represent "A spooning pair." A match and two bowls in line, of course, show "A match at bowls." Two matches alongside of a spoon and a napkin ring mean "Matched, not mated." A cracked china plate stands for "The partition of China," etc.

National Greetings.

How do you do? American and English.
How do you carry yourself? French.
How do you stand? Italian.
How do you find yourself? German.
How do you fare? Dutch.
How can you? Swedish.
How is your stomach? How have you eaten your rice? Chinese.
How do you have yourself? Polish.
How do you live on? Russian.
May thy shadow never be less. Persian.
They all mean pretty much the same thing.

He Would Take Both.

A little four-year-old who was invited out to a Thanksgiving dinner was told before leaving the house that when he was asked whether he preferred the dark or white meat of turkey he should say, "I like both and will take either." When he sat down at the table the boy was asked the usual question. He replied: "I like either and will take both, please."

An Amusing Trick.

A trick which always raises a laugh is this: You place three tiny bits of paper in a row on the back of a friend's hand and tell him you will blow away, with one puff, any two he may select, leaving the third undisturbed. He is almost sure to ask you to leave the center piece. You place a finger on that one and blow the other pieces away.

Only Four Kinds.

President Roosevelt has taken pains to instill into the minds of his boys an understanding that there are no better than anybody else and that they must learn their lessons and obey their teacher. "There are only four kinds of boys," he tells them—"tall boys and short boys, good boys and bad boys."

Just to Frighten Her.

Jack (in awful tones)—Do you know there is a skeleton in this house?

Sue (in a fright)—Where?

Jack—Inside me.

When Marcus Goes to Market. He buys a wondrous store Of peaches, figs and cherries—A hundred pounds or more; Ten bushels of bananas And peanuts by the peck. Just what his fancy dictates. With not the slightest check.

When Marcus goes a-shopping. He buys without delay Enough broadsides and velvets To take one's breath away. And jewels—diamonds, rubies—He brings with open hand; A wondrous merchant is he, With wealth at his command.

When Marcus comes from market. Across the nursery floor, Our ladies are no richer. Our wardrobe shows no more. But though his basket's empty And his goods are all in name We welcome him with kisses. And we thank him just the same.

—Youth's Companion.

BEEF AND TURKEY.

Comparative Value and Economy of the Two as Food.

Discussing the comparative food value of roast beef and turkey, the Lancet says: First, it may be said that weight for weight the flesh of the turkey is more nourishing than that of beef, but the latter is, generally speaking, cheaper than the former. The moisture in beef, however, exceeds the amount present in the flesh of the turkey, and the latter contains a better percentage of proteid, or flesh forming substance. In either case the percentage of moisture is seldom less than 70 per cent. In lean beef the amount of fat is much the same as in a not too well fed turkey, but it must be pointed out that the flesh of poultry differs from that of beef or mutton in not having its muscular fibers permeated by fat, and, moreover, the fibers in the flesh of fowl are short and readily yield to the disintegrating action of the digestive processes. A large amount of fat in either case is apt to interfere with the digestibility of the meat. The fat of beef is more digestible than the fat of the turkey. The fat of birds, in fact, is harder and owing to its tendency to become rancid is unsuitable for the dyspeptic patient.

Perhaps the most important difference, however, from a dietetic point of view between beef and turkey is that whereas beef contains a high percentage of extractive matters turkey contains hardly any at all. The extractive matters in beef account largely for its peculiar and marked flavor, and owing to their absence in poultry generally and in the pheasant and partridge the flavor of these meats is delicate. But there is no doubt that the extractives of beef as well as of mutton are valuable, for not only are they flavoring agents, but they also act as perhaps the most powerful stimulants to gastric digestion.

A Gloomy Outlook Either Way.

The New York Times tells a story of a white man who was arraigned before a colored justice of the peace during reconstruction times for killing a man and stealing his mule. The comparative enormity of such crimes varied with the soil upon which they were committed. In this case the deed was done in Arkansas, near the Texas border.

There was some rivalry between the states, but the colored justice tried to preserve an impartial frame of mind.

"We've got two kinds of law in dis yere co't," he said—"Texas law an' Arkansas law. Which will you hab?"

The prisoner thought a minute and then said he guessed he would take Arkansas law.

"Den I discharge you fo' stealin' de mule an' hang you fo' killin' de man."

"Hold on a minute, judge!" called the prisoner. "I would rather have the Texas law."

"All right. Under de law ob Texas I fine you fo' killin' de man an' hang you fo' stealin' de mule."

A Soft Answer.

Dibbs (rather shortsighted, overlooking total stranger and slapping him on the back from behind)—Hello, old fellow! How are you? So glad to see you again! Who'd have thought of meet—

Stranger—Confound you, sir! How dare you strike me in that blackguardly manner? You ought to be more careful that you've got the right person.

Dibbs—Really, sir, I must apologize, but I took you for the Earl of B—. The likeness is really wond—

Stranger (greatly mollified)—Say no more, sir, I entreat. I quite see how the mistake occurred. Magnificent weather, isn't it? Good morning to you—good morning!—London Mail.

She on Her Knees.

She went upon her knees. He gave no single sign of heeding. Although he saw and heard, he sat and calmly kept on reading. She humbly knelt. Strange sounds arose, as if for pity pleading. But mailed in steel of self he sat and calmly kept on reading reports, reviews, the foreign news, accounts of crimes appalling. She wiped her brow, the cloth she held she wrung till drops were falling. And still she stayed upon her knees, and he was all unheeding. When Mary scrubbed his office floor, he calmly kept on reading.

Not the Same.

Sappy—I overheard you defending me last night. Mr. Jenks was complaining to you that I had meant to snub him, wasn't he?

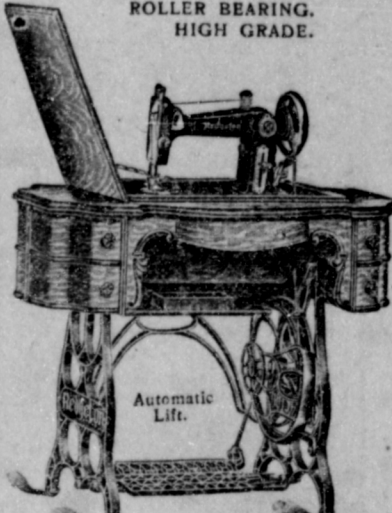

Miss Pepprey—No, indeed.

Sappy—No? I thought he was. At any rate, I heard you say: "You misjudge him. I don't believe such a thing ever entered Mr. Sappy's head."

Miss Pepprey—Oh, we were just discussing "Ideas!"—Philadelphia Press.

The Delineator for March.

Containing the first authentic reports of the Spring and Summer styles, the March Delineator is of special interest to the woman of fashion, and a most attractive number throughout. A discussion of "The Use and Abuse of Ar-morial Bearings," by William Armstrong Crozier, is a noteworthy contribution, containing a fund of information in regard to coat armor that is little known or widely disregarded. N. Hudson Moore's article on "Old Pewter," the first in a series of kindred subjects, will appeal particularly to collectors, and the story of Charlotte Elliott's famous hymn, "Just as I Am," as related by Allan Sutherland, is of greatest interest.
Other features are "Robert and Clara Schumann," by Gustav Kobbe, in the Composers' Series,
"The Game of Politics as it is Played in Washington"—and more particularly, woman's part in it—by "Marie Columbia," and a reproduction of miniatures from the Marie collection. There are two notable pieces of fiction in "The Things That Are Real," by Zona Gale, and "His Honor vs. Cupid," by Virginia Woodward Cloud, in addition to delightful verse. For the young folks, L. Frank Baum gives an "Animal Fairy Tale," Grace MacGowan Cook a "Son Riley Rabbit" story, and Lina Beard an amusing pastime. There are the usual departments and other matter of interest to women within and without the home.

All Kinds of People.

There is probably no place on earth better than a country newspaper office to learn how many kinds of people there are. Some get huffy if a statement is sent,
others will not pay until they receive a statement. Some will pay without a statement, and others will not pay whether a statement is sent or not. Some thought they owed more and some thought they didn't owe so much. Some say they couldn't get along without the paper and others say it don't amount to much, and so on down
the line.—Exchange.

Syndicate to Develop Land.

A special to the Courier-Journal from Cincinnati under date of January 31st says:

To open and develop the coal and mineral properties of 20,000 acres of land in Breathitt and Perry counties, Ky., a syndicate, which, in turn will form a $5,000-000 company, is being organized by D. C. McCready, Carlisle building; Col. D. D. Flanagan, of College Hill, and Otto Germer, of Erie, Pa., are the financial heads.
The lands are part of holdings
in Breathitt, Perry, Leslie, Knott and Letcher counties, amounting in all to 147,000 acres. Col. Flanagan and Otto Germer, in 1900 associated themselves with Edward Germer and Charles Ebisch, both of Erie, and since then have been securing rights of way, titles for land, and mineral rights.

Within the last few weeks these details have been perfected at frequent meetings at the St. Nicholas Hotel. McCready being heavily interested, undertook to organize the syndicate and subsequent company. The titles were secured from more than 100 holders of land.

Part of the plan is to build a town on the north fork of the Kentucky river, twelve miles south of Jackson. One thousand two hundred houses will be erected, and fourteen miles of railroad track laid.

The Landrum Family.

EDITOR BREATHITT NEWS:
The following is a short history of the Landrum family of Kentucky:

James Landrum was born in Scotland in 1703. Came to this country in the year 1725, and settled on the James river in Virginia.
He was a local preacher and raised a large family of boys. His oldest son, Francis Landrum, was born in 1738, and was a local preacher in the Methodist church for thirty years. Francis Land-rum had several boys, the oldest, James Landrum, and Francis Lan-drum, both preachers in the Methodist church. Francis Landrum was born in 1752, and raised a large family in Louisa county, Virginia.
Reuben Landrum, his son, was born in 1774, married Miss Patsy Bibb and moved to Kentucky and settled in Clark county, where he raised a large family. His oldest son, William B. Landrum, was a member of the first conference held in Kentucky. Reuben W.
Landrum, his next oldest son, was born March 17, 1811, joined the Methodist church in 1828, became a licensed preacher in 1832 and joined the conference in 1834. He raised seven sons and two daughters. Robert Landrum, his fifth son, was born in 1836 in Breathitt county, Ky., joined the Methodist church in 1868, was licensed to preach in 1888, and is still living in Breathitt county, and holding to the faith of his forefathers.

I have given this short sketch of history to show the Christian character of the Landrum family of Kentucky.

R. B. LANDRUM,
Lost Creek, Ky.

R. M. Carpenter, of Campton, died at his home last Wednesday.
He was about sixty years old and was a veteran of the Civil war. He was a member of the Red Men's lodge and was buried by that order. He formerly lived in this county, moving to Campton only a few years ago. He had many relatives in this county.

A NOVEL INSOMNIA REMEDY.

In a recent book Mr. Stackpool O'Dell puts forward a novel remedy for sleeplessness. He says: Take a card about the size of a sheet of foolscap and obtain a bottle of luminous paint. Write with the paint upon the card the words, "Sleep, sleep, sleep," large and clear. Place this card in the daytime where the light will get at it and at nighttime in such a position on the wall or on a screen that you will have to lift up your eyes in order to look at it while you are lying in your easiest position on the bed—that is to say, the position in which you generally go to sleep. As you see the illuminated words, repeat them to yourself in a monotonous manner. As the eyelids become tired, let them close. You will not in most cases repeat the words very often before sleep brings on forgetfulness.—Humanitarian.

The Longest Strike.

What is the longest strike on record? There is one, still running in Germany, which has endured for thirty-five years. It has other remarkable features as well, as the strikers are members of parliament, though, it must be admitted, of a small one. They are the deputies to the diet of the principality of Hatz-burg, and they are striking against the reactionary constitution imposed by the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz in 1860.

Since that year the members of the diet have steadily refused to meet, although frequently called upon to do so. Now, however, the new duke has held out the hand of reconciliation and promised to consider their demands for a revision of the constitution, so that the strike will probably soon come to an end.

Cured by Laughing.

Dyspepsia is now to be systematically cured by laughter. It is stated that a Paris doctor in return for a large fee admits patients into his private institution, where the mirth treatment is administered. A few dyspeptics sit around a room and begin to smile at each other. The smile must never be allowed to fade away. On the contrary, it must be developed by will power into a grin and the grin into a guffaw. Then you have to go on laughing until your sides ache, when you will very soon feel much better. A course of a week or two of the treatment at the rate of a couple of hours' giggling a day cures the worst cases of dyspepsia.

A Long Drawn Out Name.

The signing of the marriage register in the case of a prospective English bride will be something of a task. The bride elect, who is known ordinarily as Miss Lyonella Tollemache, is the possessor of no fewer than nine Christian names.
She belongs to a family noted for the number and quaintness of its Christian names and is herself burdened with the following appellation: Lyonella Fredgunda Cuthber-ga Ethelswytha Ideth Ysabel Grace Monica de Orellana Plantagenet Tol-lemache-Tollemache.

Evolution of the Ichthyosaur.

It appears that the ichthyosaur race sprang from small, land living, scaly lizards, with feet armed with claws, and in the last few years in various parts of the world—in North America, Italy, Wurtemberg—savants have worked out almost the whole narrative of a wonderful transformation into large, sculpinlike or smooth skinned swimmers, resca-bling the dolphins among mammals, and bringing forth their young alive
and at sea.—Henry Fairfield Osborn in Century.

W. L. Welch, of Stanton, was in Jackson Thursday.

Mrs. Dulcena Hampton, of Simpson, was in Jackson Thursday.

Rev. R. L. Baker returned home
Thursday from a visit to his old home at Sneedville, Tenn.

Miss Mary Irvine left today for Long Grove, Hardin county, to visit her niece, Mrs. G. H. Mc-Afee.

Sheriff McCord, of Clark county, passed through here Thursday on his way to Hazard on official business.

John and Mitchell Parker, brothers, were arrested Thursday by Green Patrick, near Salyersville, on the charge of killing Garfield Gibson at Carter City, Ky.

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation to attend the Winchester Commercial Club Banquet at Winchester, which came off last night, but had to decline in order that the BREATHITT COUNTY NEWS might come out on time. A newspaper man that prints the news is generally so busy at work that he has very little time for recreation or pleasure.

That Tickling in the Throat.

One minute after taking One Minute Cough Cure the tickling in the throat is gone. It acts in the throat—not the stomach. Harmless—good for children.
A. L. Spafford, postmaster at Chester, Mich., says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup.
Three doses of One Minute Cough Cure half an hour apart speedily cured her.
I cannot praise One Minute Cough Cure too much for what it has done in our family." It always gives relief.

All Was Not Well.

A naval officer tells of a German,
a recruit in the naval service, who during a certain watch was, in accordance with the regulations, calling the hours.
"Seven bells, and all iss vell!"
called the German correctly enough.
Those who heard the next call were much astonished by this amusing variation:
"Eight bells, and all iss not vell.
I haf droppit my hat overboard."— Collier's Weekly.

Didn't Speak the Language.

At an evening reception recently two men were interested in one of the young women present. One of them remarked:
"I guess she's from Boston."
"Oh, no, indeed!" replied the other.
"Didn't she ask you if you hadn't resided in that city at one time?"
"No," she said, "I haven't you live in Boston once?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Peculiar Disappearance.

J. D. Rangan, of Butlerville, O., laid the peculiar disappearance of his painful symptoms, of indigestion and billiousness, to Dr. King's New Life Pills.
He says: "They are a perfect remedy for dizziness, sour stomach, headache, constipation, etc." Guaranteed at The Jackson Drug Co., price 25c.

Breck Crawford for Sheriff.

In its proper place, on the second page, will be found the announcement of Breck Crawford as a candidate for Sheriff of this county at the next November election. Mr. Crawford is a man of honesty and integrity and well qualified for the office of Sheriff, and if elected will perform the duties of the office without fear, favor or partiality.

MARRIAGES.

Patrick Henry Risner and Miss Emma Patton, both of Rousseau, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, last Thursday.

Irvine Spicer and Jane Cole, both of Canoe, were married yesterday at the home of the bride. The groom is 70 years old and the bride 23.

William Sizemore and Mrs. Susan Jones were married at A. A. Allen's, at Noble, last Tuesday. This is the second marriage for Mrs. Jones, her husband having been killed about one year ago.

Warrants Issued.

Judge Benton, of Winchester, issued warrants Tuesday for James Hargis, Ed Callahan and B. F. French on the charge of running off certain witnesses for the plaintiff in the damage suit of Mrs. Marcum against the defendants. One charge is made against the two Hargises and their bail is fixed at $2,000 each. There are two charges against B. F. French and his total bail was fixed at $3,000. Against Ed Callahan there are three separate charges and the total bail required of him is $4,000. French was at once arrested and gave bond. Warrants were also issued for the arrest of Mose Felner and Sam Fields, of Leslie county, the witnesses who left without testifying. Felner's bond was fixed at $500 and Fields' at $200. Judge Benton feels deeply the attempt to tamper with the integrity and dignity of his court.

In Memorium of Lizzie Sewell.

Born October 25, 1895, died January 29, 1905. She was the only child that blessed the union of Thomas L. and Laura Sewell. She was amiable and sweet in disposition, the pride and joy of her home. Of her it can truly be said that none knew her but to love her. When such dark clouds of sorrow overshadow us we feel that almost every ray of sunshine is shut out of our lives. Yet we know that God is love, therefore, would not be unkind. He is all-wise and can not be mistaken. She was too pure and good for this world. She was God's own and He has only taken her home to join that band of holy angels, to sing around the great white throne forever. You have another treasure in heaven, where moth nor rust doth corrupt and thieves can not break through nor steal. May we so live and act that when our final farewell to this world has been said we can go to that fair and sinless land, meet the loved ones gone before and sing his praises evermore. M.

Doing Good Work.

As the eyes of the whole world are now focused on Jackson and a great many things have been and are being said about us, it must not be overlooked that we still have a police court that is trying to keep order in Jackson, and we must say that for the past year a very good showing has been made, for which the police judge, the city attorney, the board of trustees, the marshal and the police force are all entitled to due credit. Offenders against the town ordinances have been promptly arrested, tried and dealt with according to law. Below we give a report of the police judge for the year 1904:

During the year 1904 there were 343 cases in the Jackson police court, resulting in 328 convictions and 15 acquittals. Those convicted were for the following offenses:

Shooting in town.....	32
Selling liquor.....	21
Drunkenness.....	102
Gaming.....	130
Contempt of court.....	33
C concealed weapons.....	3
Breach of peace.....	46
Disorderly conduct.....	51
Adultery.....	4
Assault.....	1
Public indecency.....	5

The Sick.

Miss Angelina Pence, who has been very sick for several days, is convalescent.

Guiteau Howard is sick with fever at the home of William Barnett, near the mouth of South Fork.

Capitol Location.

The people of Northeast Kentucky are almost a unit on the question of the location of our State Capitol. No one up here wants our Capitol at Frankfort. Lexington is the place, and no one with taste or pride can object to Lexington. Then why dilly-dally and talk about taxing the people to build our State Capitol in a sink hole?

Charged With Embezzlement.

Deputy U. S. Marshal William Mays arrested Joseph E. Stivers near here Tuesday on a warrant charging him with embezzling postoffice funds while he was postmaster at Muir, Fayette county. He delivered him to U. S. Commissioner R. A. Hurst, who set his examining trial for February 10. Stivers gave bond for his appearance at that time.

For Representative.

In another column will be found the announcement of George W. Arnett as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative of this district. Mr. Arnett was born and raised in Magoffin county, and has been engaged in teaching school for several years. He has many relatives there who are Democrats. He married a daughter of Reuben McQuinn and is now a resident of this county. If he gets the nomination he will be hard to beat.

Plays Second Fiddle to None.

The Lexington Herald in commenting on THE NEWS says, editorially:

"THE BREATHITT COUNTY NEWS is an enterprising, progressive newspaper—one of the best country papers published in Kentucky. The editor of it was at one time County Judge of Breathitt county, and, therefore it is to be presumed, a man of some standing in that community, and his paper covers the ordinary local happenings with greater detail than the majority of county papers do."

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Sewell desire to express their thanks to their many friends and kind neighbors for their many visits, and expressions of sympathy during the illness of their only little girl, Lizzie, and especially do they wish to thank Drs. Boggs and Taulbee for their faithful, tender watchfulness over her all through her sickness, and last but not least the ladies who administered to her so faithfully day after day and night after night, ready with loving hands to do something to relieve their precious little sufferer.

Temporary Injunction Granted.

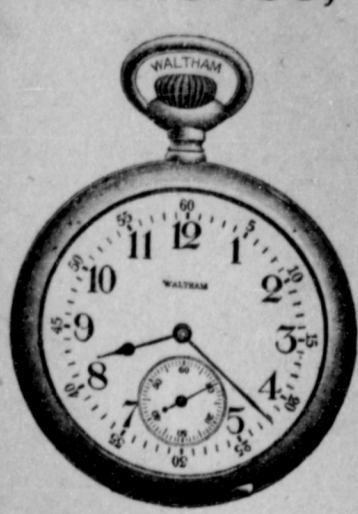

The Court of Appeals on last Tuesday granted a temporary injunction restraining the Fayette circuit court from taking any further action on the indictments against Alex., James and Elbert Hargis and Ed Callahan until February 10th, on which day the final hearing and arguments will be heard.

Judges Hazelrigg and McQuown of the Frankfort bar, and J. Smith Hays, of Winchester, filed the petition. The principal pleas relied on to give Breathitt county jurisdiction are that the defendants were in the custody of Breathitt county officers when the indictments were made in Fayette county, and also that as the Commonwealth had indicted Curt Jett in this court, this court should have exclusive jurisdiction in all the cases growing out of the assassination of James Cockrill, who was shot here and died next day in Lexington.

John R. Allen, Commonwealth's Attorney of the Fayette circuit court, will answer and claim that the Breathitt county records under which the parties claim they are in custody are forgeries, and says that he will be able to prove that some of the defendants were not here on the day the bonds are alleged to have been taken. He has asked that Magistrate James Edwards be required to appear before the court with his records.

These cases are attracting a great deal of attention, and as both sides are very ably represented, the public should be satisfied with whatever decision the highest court may make.

Mrs. Lucy Thomas has returned from Cincinnati where she has been visiting her old friend, Mrs. Florence Snyder, who once lived in Jackson.

Judge D. D. Sublett, of Salyersville, was here Thursday on his way home from Montgomery county where he had been on professional business. He is a prospective candidate for Congress from this district and if elected would make a good member, as he knows how to do things.

Thursday was ground hog day. The tradition is that his Hogship comes out of his hole at exactly noon. If he don't see his shadow he stays out, but if he does see his shadow, he goes back and there will be six more weeks of bad weather. He "shore" saw his shadow and made a sneak. It was real mean of him.

Nearly a Lynching.

While several boys were skating near Beattyville last Sunday afternoon, the seventeen-year-old son of George P. Burke, of near Proctor, accidentally skated against a young negro boy named Henry Christian. The negro boy arose first and shot young Burke in the breast, inflicting a probably fatal wound. The negro boy was immediately arrested and placed in jail. The Burke boy belongs to one of the leading families of that section, and there is such indignation at this outrage that there is so much talk of a lynching that the jail is guarded. We hope the law will be allowed to take its course, as no man or set of men can afford to redress their grievances contrary to law.

An Evening of Mirth and Music.

The young people of Jackson, with the help of Mrs. Head and Miss Reese, will give a splendid entertainment of mirth and music at the court house on Friday evening February 10th, at 7:00 o'clock. WILD DOGS OF INDIA.

They Are Very Shy, Very Cunning and Very Seldom Shot.

Mrs. Nra Gardner describes an experience while hunting big game in the central provinces of India as follows: "We had been shooting for some months and up to a certain date had had very good luck. Tigers and other beasts were all plentiful, and our bag was a good one. Suddenly our luck changed. Blank day followed blank day, not because we had missed easy shots or had to reproach ourselves for losing wounded beasts, but simply that we had seen nothing in the shape of a wild animal to shoot. Pachmark, the hot weather station of these parts, was just above us, so my husband and I, with a few servants and baggage coolies, started to climb up the hill. He and I were riding a little in front when he drew my attention to a number of kites and vultures circling in the air just ahead. Here this, of course, meant carrion or a dying beast of some kind, and we sent on a 'sye' to see what it was. The man came creeping back all fours. 'Wild dog, sahib! Wild dog!' he said.

"My husband got his rifle as quickly as possible. He crept forward and suddenly came in the pack, making off nearly 300 yards away. He took a hurried shot at the last in the pack and missed. The rest galloped off to the right, the one he had aimed at going to the left. While we were bemoaning our luck the 'sye' touched my husband. 'Look, sahib! He comes back!' And, sure enough, away to the right we saw the dog going back to join the pack. How he crossed the track without our seeing him is a mystery. He was already 200 yards off. My husband made a most brilliant shot and 'got' the dog just as it was crossing the bank to the river.

"Wild dogs are not only very shy, but very cunning, and very seldom shot. They do an immense amount of damage. As soon as a pack takes possession of a jungle everything else leaves it. Even a tiger will go if he smells wild dog. This accounted for our recent bad luck and the little game we had seen lately. The one we got was a young dog, rather like a fox, but with longer legs and body, thinner brush and rounder ears. There were six in the pack, and they were devouring a young buck they had just pulled down."

Give Your Stomach a Rest.

Your food must be properly digested and assimilated to be of any value to you. If your stomach is weak or diseased take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach a rest, enabling it to recuperate, take on new life and grow strong again. Kodol cures sour stomach, gas, bloating, heart palpitation and all digestive disorders. L. A. Soper, of Little Rock, Ky., writes us: "We feel that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure deserves all the commendation that can be given it, as it saved the life of our little girl when she was three years old. She is now six and we have kept it for her constantly, but of course she only takes it now when anything disagrees with her." Sold by M. S. Crain.

Why Does the Earth Revolve?

That the earth "do move" is a fact that has been demonstrated in a variety of ways, but exactly why it does so is not so easy to explain. The astronomers are not agreed upon this question, and "when doctors disagree" where are the common people to look for explanations, answers and solutions to such queries? One school of these star wise men claim that the original initial centrifugal force given the globe was directed in a line slightly to one side of the center, which would, of course, cause the great globe to rotate on its axis, and by what is known as the "law of inertia" it would "continue to so revolve at a uniform rate of speed until arrested by some outside forces." Others claim that the motion of daily rotation is a compound resultant of the general motion of the earth in its orbit and the attraction of the sun.

What She Was Taking.

He came with the best of recommendations as a butler. He had the flowing snavity of the plantation house servant, fortified by that impressive air that is associated with the English flunky. "Heary," said his mistress, "if any one calls I am not at home. I am going upstairs to take my massage treatment, and then I shall rest for at least three hours." A caller came, and this is what Henry told her: "Ah'm sorry, mumm, but Mrs. Dodson is not at home. She's busy taking huh Masonic treatment."—New York Press.

A Touching Story

is the saving from death, of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland d. Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At the Jackson Drug Co. 50c and $1.00 guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

A Record of Marvelous Accomplishment.

Established February 19, 1904, The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, of Lexington, has, within a few months' time, become concededly the best weekly paper of its kind in America, and has secured a paid-in-advance circulation of over 13,000 copies.

Among the contributors to its columns on agricultural topics are many of the best-posted men in America. Mr. H. F. Hillenmyer, whose reputation as a nurseryman is national, conducts each week a department of answers to inquiries, in which he gives from his vast store of knowledge, experience and study, his views and advice on any subject pertaining to the orchard, lawn or garden, about which information may be desired. Every issue of The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder contains the most pertinent news and the most timely advice for farmers and stock raisers of every sort.

As a medium for all forms of farm and live stock advertising (for both of which it offers special discounts), it has no rival in the state. More than half its circulation is in Kentucky, and for the most part among people who are interested in and able to buy either farms or good stock.

By special arrangement we are able to offer for a limited time

Love Not Blind.

"Love is blind, you know," said the minister's wife.
"Blind nothing!" exclaimed the parson. "Don't you suppose if it was blind it would sometimes make a mistake and give the minister a little more than a twenty-five cent wedding fee?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Proprietorship.

"That Count Fuchas is nobody's fool," remarked the man who always makes an effort to say something pleasant.
"No," answered Mr. Cumrox, "he is nobody's as yet, but I understand my daughter thinks of marrying him."—Washington Star.

Overdoing It.

"Yes, I married John because he was such a quiet man in his ways."
"And are you happy?"
"No. He's too quiet."
"In what way?"
"He even takes off his shoes when he comes up the hallway late at night."—Chicago News.

Elsie—Gwacious! That wasn't my gentleman. He's only my father.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of the great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at The Jackson Drug Co. price 50c.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The Terrible Infant Tells Tales Out of School to New Found Friends.

The little boy made eyes at the women in the seat behind and at last deserted his mother for their society.

"Yes'm," he said, "we're going on the train. Ain't it fine? My uncle's dead. We're goin' to his funeral."

"Was your uncle your mother's brother?" asked one of the women.

"Yes'm, an' papa hates him. An' when my mother was a little girl my uncle was a little boy, an' he licked my papa. You see that lunch basket? Well, we've got some chicken in it, cold chicken, an' I'll give you some. When my mother was a little girl, she always had to eat the neck, 'cause there was two, four, eleven children, an' she was the littlest, an' she just hates the neck."

His new found friends were properly sympathetic.

"See that satchel? Well, that ain't ours. We had to borrow it from Mrs. Didson, 'cause the mite ate ours all up. Oo! Look at them cows! We had a cow once, but it died. Ain't that a pretty dress mamma's got on? It ain't hers. It's Mrs. Didson's, only she's bigger'n my mother. I guess you ain't got any little boys, have you? Is your uncle dead?"—Boston Post.

Another Sort of Cow.

Tommy—Gran'pa, I thought that nightcaps were used in bed.
Grandpa—So they are, my boy.
Tommy—Pa says you have your nightcap every night before you go to bed.
